

2nd International Symposium on Intelligence Design

March 14(Mon.) – 15 (Tue.), 2022
The University of Tokyo | Online

2nd International Symposium on Intelligence Design (ISID 2022) is an international conference for researchers from various research fields to discuss about the potential future of artificial intelligence and design. This symposium aims to introduce the latest research findings by world-class researchers who lead innovation design and research and discuss unexplored research areas in the field and the possibility of approaching new issues. ISID 2022 is supported by JAIST Co-AI Design Research Core and Creative AI Advanced Research Base, and the grant from Tateishi Science and Technology Foundation. ISID 2022 is a totally online event, is free to register.

Important Date

Poster Submission: February 28, 2022 (only abstract)
Registration: March.9, 2022
Symposium: March. 14-15, 2022

Call for Posters

The Symposium on Intelligence Design invites the exciting work as poster presentation, work-in-progress or partially finished work in design and AI related topics. Only abstract submission is required without manuscript. ISID 2022 will provide opportunity for experience sharing rather than publication record. We will provide the Best Poster Awards for best poster presentations. All submission must be submitted electronically to EasyChair.
